

Banton Play Area

Community delighted by refurbished play area

Client: North Lanarkshire Council

Address: Lammerknowes Road, Banton G65 0QS

Budget: £86,000

Age Range: Toddlers, Junior, Teenage

Project Story

The small village of Banton in North Lanarkshire had a play area that had become quite tired looking and in need of a serious makeover. Funding from the local authority was made available and a competitive tender process was set up through Public Contracts Scotland. The chosen Proludic play equipment provides a fantastic range of activities for children of all ages and abilities. There is a wheelchair friendly roundabout, an exciting cableway, a large Origin' multiplay Unit, swings, sensory panels and the spring mounded and rotating rodeo board. The wetpour safety surface has stunning natural colours and graphics to make reference to the local landscape and River Kelvin.

After

“ This is one of the better play areas that I have been involved in, the completed area looks even better than the presentation poster in the original submission! ”

Taking pride in the community you live in is important we understand that! Having a central play area that can show off the heritage and culture of where you live while providing fun and educational opportunities for children and teenagers is key. Proludic takes pride in creating a unique design for you. We can incorporate elements into the design to mirror the heritage and culture of your community. We also arrange a site opening on completion for the whole community to enjoy and to celebrate.
