Project Story

A new sports centre in Elgin aspired to have a play area built outside the main building that would include play opportunities for children of all abilities. Proludic provided a design for the area which includes fully inclusive play items. Bold and colourful graphics were also included in the wetpour surfacing to create a space which stimulates all senses and abilities. Children can enjoy spinning, bouncing, swinging, climbing and tactile play experiences in a safe environment.

After

Before

“It was really important for Moray Sports Centre to have an inclusive play area to include all children in our community. Proludic had a fantastic range of equipment to suit our needs and their design met our brief. We are delighted with the new colourful play facilities as it gives all children further opportunities to be active. We think that the addition of a play area will widen the appeal of the sports centre and entice more families to discover us.”

At Proludic, we design every play area to capture the imagination of visitors through inventive designs, creative ideas and stimulating products. Inclusion is a key aspect of our philosophy and we believe all children should have access to play through equipment and facilities accessible to all. We aim to help children play together in a friendly, safe environment to prevent isolation and allow children to develop at their own pace and within their capabilities.
